Biographical Sketch

My name is Bechtel Bishop, and I have lived my whole life in Shiner, Texas. I grew up going to First Baptist Church in Yoakum and am still a strong Christian due to my amazing family. Going to school in Shiner, I knew everyone and their parents fairly personally as it is a very tight knit community. There are my citywide events that take place throughout the year that just adds to the beautiful sense of community the town holds. One thing in particular that brings people together in Shiner is football. Essentially the entire town goes to all the home football games and most still go to the away games. I grew up practically idolizing the Varsity football players, and as I grew into the role football became a big part of my life. I enjoyed and took advantage of the fact that you can do a diverse set of activities in the small school and was able to participate in many other parts of high school. I was able to get a taste of everything which helped me narrow my decision of how I want to live my life. I am still not completely set onto a specific path, but I have started myself in the right direction through engineering. I am excited to see where this career path will take me, and I know that Texas A&M University will offer me the best education possible and the best experience possible.
